

Dear Beauty Elite...

I am thrilled to welcome you to The-Beauty-Pages.com. Thank you so much for visiting and for registering to become a member of our exclusive members-only area, The Beauty Elite. I hope you will visit us often to take advantage of our fabulous offers and competitions.

First, let me introduce myself... My name is Louise and I am a self-confessed beauty addict. I have created this website for people like me – people who can't get enough of beauty products, who would choose to visit a luxury spa if they had just one day to live, and who save a little of each month's salary to purchase delectable lipsticks, good-enough-to-eat body butters, and the latest exciting innovations in skin and body care. If that sounds like you, The-Beauty-Pages.com is set to become your new best friend.

If there's something you want to see on the website or if you have a question, comment, or even criticism I would love to hear. Please email me at editor@the-beauty-pages.com.

This week's TOP FIVE:

1. Miller Harris

I am passionate about the fragrance house Miller Harris and took a trip to their Mayfair boutique this week for a nose around. I'm saving for a bespoke fragrance, created by the classically-trained company creator Lyn Harris. Until then, I will be regularly applying my favourite of their scents; Coeur de Fleur Parfum, £150 for 30ml (www.millerharris.com).

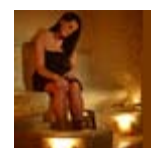

2. Purple

In the fashion world, purple was seen on the Autumn/Winter catwalks at a plethora of shows, including Versace, Gucci and Galliano. Get ahead of the pack by wearing it on your eyes and nails all summer. I love the rich long-lasting colour of Bourjois' new Ombre Stretch Eyeshadow in Violet, £5.95 (www.bourjois.co.uk)

3. Darphin

I was lucky enough to be invited to a skin consultation at the deliciously-chic French brand Darphin. After my skin was analysed (and my current skin care routine shamed) I left with a personal prescription to try at home. For your own analysis, fill out a questionnaire online (www.darphin-france.com)

4. Titanic Spa

I will be telling all my pregnant friends about the latest offer from Titanic Spa - the wonderful Yorkshire-based eco spa. They are offering ladies in their third trimester of pregnancy complimentary entry and use of Club Titanic. This includes the salt regulated swimming pool, hydrozone and sensory relaxation room plus 15% off its Decleor and Elemis Mother-to-be treatments. The offer is available at specific times - for more information visit their website (www.titanicspa.com)

5. Apples and Pears

I've just found out about British company Apples & Pears and have instantly fallen in love. Based in the beautiful Cotswolds countryside, they are a small beekeeping business dedicated to making the very best handmade, natural skincare products from the oldest beauty treatments in history - beeswax and honey. I am addicted to their highly nourishing Wild Rose Lip Balm, £9.25 (www.perfectlypureskincare.com).

See you again next week...

Louise xx